There is a Japanese proverb about climbing Mt. Fuji:

“He who climbs Mt. Fuji is a wise man; he who climbs twice is a fool.”
Intro & Recap
My advice to you...
Just don’t
At a very large US Bank
“Kiwi method”
Go see... everything
Fear
“Shhhh!”
Years of tech debt and local optimizations.
Approach
Training
Warm up..

“On your marks”
Team Selection

“Get Set”
“Go!”
So what happened then?
There is a Japanese proverb about climbing Mt. Fuji:

“He who climbs Mt. Fuji is a wise man; he who climbs twice is a fool.”

How about three times?
First thing first...
Speed dating
Get the stakeholders on board first...
Systems
The missing context
“At first I was convinced it could not work here...”
gordon.j.weir@gmail.com